Blanket Label Collages

"Fragments" collage, labels and blankets.

Detail from large "Hospital Property" wall hanging.

A large proportion of the raw materials that I work with is made up of recycled blankets, which I then hand - dye. Some of these are given to me ,others I find at jumble sales and in charity shops. Over the years I have used hundreds. I try to keep a little piece of each; a label or a careful darn, fragments of blanket that have witnessed intimate moments in so many peoples lives.

The wall hangings and collages are like an archive for me, before I go on to dye, cut and make something new.
